EXAMINER'S RESPONSE

1. In response to applicant's amendment filed 6-9-05, all the amendments to the specification and claims have been entered. The examiner has considered the new presentation of claims and applicant's arguments in view of the disclosure and the present state of the prior art. And it is the examiner's opinion that the claims are unpatentable for the reasons set forth in this Office action:

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the continuing data in the specification should be updated to list the status of each application and any corresponding patent numbers.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 & 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hyatt '044 (US 5745044)

Hyatt '044 discloses a programming method including detecting a key and identifying a key number IDN from the key module. Programmer 301a identifies locks to be controlled on different days based on route stops complied by the programmer and generates a routing an programs the table into the routing tables 502 of the key unit. The table includes at least two dates, each with at least one lock number that is a date sensitive code only good for that day. The number is also date sensitive in that it is encrypted using a daykey. The claims does not specify that the first and second dates are different or that the first and second enclosures are different. Even if different dates and enclosures were specified, such would have been provided by the route table of Hyatt '044. See col. 7 and fig. 9. Hyatt '044 lacks identifying a key user from the key claim 1.

Art Unit: 2612

Lee discloses an analogous art access control system with identifying a key user from the key card to all tracking of the user (col. 2 line 25). Lee also includes a smart card with programming instructions to upload/download data. See at least col. 5.

Regarding claim 1, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have included identifying a key user in Hyatt '044 because this is disclosed in Lee for tracking the user or collector.

Regarding claim 2-3, Hyatt '044 includes internal instruction sources (selection by management operator) and external sources (download from host) in col. 7 lines 24-30.

Regarding claim 4, external source being a smart card would have been obvious in view of Lee teaching a smart card carrying programming instruction in analogous art. This would provide a convenient manner to transfer programming instructions.

Regarding claim 5, instruction unique to a particular computer would have been obvious in order to prevent unauthorized use of the external source such as a dongle.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 2612

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
